

Putting Sustainability in Motion

STAR LUBRICANTS is committed to embracing the challenges of sustainability, to do our part to advance and preserve our environment in which we live. At Star Lubricants, we operate our business and provide products in a manner that helps balance economic growth, social development, and environmental protection so that the future is not compromised by actions taken today.

A key part of this effort is taking steps to make sure that our company has a positive, lasting impact on the communities in which we work and live. Thanks to our employees and safe facility operations, we are making positive contributions through focused efforts on the sustainable development of our business. Our team has also been able to initiate and develop promotional campaigns for products with low environment impact, such as engine oils with low ashes emission like those in ESP and LE categories. At the same time, we supported our clients in recovery and recycling of used oil through both counseling and direct intervention, these is just one example of the broader environmental, health, safety, and security activities we do.

Together with Mobil branded products and processes, our people are the driving force behind all our efforts and achievements in support of sustainability. We are committed to helping drive business solutions while protecting, advancing and maintaining economic, environmental and social assets. Our current and long-term success depends on our employees, whose ingenuity, expertise and energy enable us to put sustainability in motion and help keep our world moving ahead to a better future.
